Dr. Fern Duvall Conservation and Collaboration Award

Dr. Fern Duvall II was a long-time Pacific Birds Habitat Joint Venture champion and treasured Hawai'i Conservation community member. You can read a memoriam to Fern here.

This award program honors Fern's incredible legacy by recognizing individuals working in the Pacific Birds region who embody the innovative, inclusive, humble, and collaborative spirit that Fern brought to conservation endeavors. These are the core characteristics that the award seeks to celebrate.

With this award, we seek to celebrate:

- Individuals early in their career or considered shining lights in conservation.
- Small community-based organizations.

Awardees will receive up to $1,000 worth of supplies that support their conservation work.

Eligibility - Individuals, partnerships, and organizations working to conserve habitat within the Pacific Birds Habitat Joint Venture geography that embody the core characteristics of this award.

Nominations from anywhere in the Pacific Birds geography will be considered, but preference is given to nominations that have inspired or influenced wetland bird and habitat conservation in Hawai'i.

Nominations will be reviewed by a Pacific Birds Habitat Joint Venture Committee composed of staff and board members.

To Submit A Nomination:

Please complete the Nomination form linked below before by 11:59 pm on July 1, 2025.
