The 'alae 'ula is an endangered bird that is unique to Hawai'i. There are only 712 left in the world!

Pacific Birds and Hawai'i Audubon Society are hosting a special event to show just how rare this bird is...

Join us to be part of something BIG!

We will take photos of 712 people to create a composite image of an 'alae 'ula. You can help let the world know how much this bird needs our kōkua! Everyone who participates will get a goodie bag!
